Tidelands help offered; Molpus files law suit

BY D.C. HARVILL

The Secretary of State's office is offering a program to help individuals who are having problems selling property due to the Public Trust Tidelands issue.

Secretary of State Dick Molpus recently announced the Imminent Transfer Program, designed to help those with pending property sales determine whether the property in question is public or private land.

The controversy over Public Trust Tidelands began with a 1986 decision by the State Supreme Court that the state owns all lands which were subject to the mean (average) high tide when Mississippi joined the union.

The 1989 Mississippi Legislature, however, passed a bill stating that the boundary would follow the 1973 mean high-tide mark.

Molpus filed suit last week in the Hinds County Chancery Court asking for a ruling on whether his office should use the 1973 mark or the earliest determinable mark as mandated by the Supreme Court.

Under the program, an individual who has a sale pending in which the buyers cannot obtain title insurance or financing because of the tidelands issue can apply for a determination on the property.

An application can be obtained from the Secretary of State's Coast office in the Hatten Building in Gulfport or at P.O. Box 97, Gulfport, MS 39502. The phone number is 864-0254.

A $100 deposit must be submitted with the application.

If the property can be easily determined to be private, the deposit will be returned to the applicant along with the determination.

If the property appears to be public, an independent surveyor will determine the boundary between public and private lands. The cost of the survey will be split between the applicant and the Secretary of State's office. The original deposit will be applied to applicant's share of the surveyor's fee.

Area real estate agents have questioned the determination's validity if the Supreme Courts ruling supercedes the Legislature's.

So far, four individuals on the Coast—two in Hancock County—have applied for the service, according to Jim Nelson, assistant Secretary of State for Public Lands.

"The survey will determine if the property is in a natural state or if it is obviously altered. If it is in a natural state, there is no problem," Nelson said.

By going through deeds, old maps and aerial photographs, a "fairly accurate" determination can be made, according to Nelson.

After the survey has been made, the boundary determination will be included in a preliminary map and will be official "as far as the Secretary of State's office is concerned," Nelson said.

Diamondhead store owner helps catch armed robbers

BY DENA BISNETTE

Richard Criss, owner of the Hinky Dinky convenience store in Diamondhead, helped local authorities catch two armed robbers Tuesday after one of the suspects pointed a gun at the back of his head.

The two men charged with the armed robbery are being held in the Hancock County Jail on $100,000 bond each and will have an initial appearance hearing today before Justice Court Judge Lee Klein, Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay stated.

The two were identified as Julio Wicks, 37, of 7700 Read Rd., New Orleans, La., and Ronald Joseph Jenkins, 28, of 3920 Second St., New Orleans.

Seay said authorities are still trying to determine whether one of the jailed men is a parole violator.

In addition, the blue Pontiac used in the robbery was found to have been stolen in New Orleans and contained a quantity of women's clothing suspected to have been stolen as well, the investigator said. The dresses were on hangers and still had cardboard size tags on them.

Criss told authorities the robbery occurred between 9 p.m. and 9:30 when he was working alone in the store and said the two men at first acted as if they were customers.

One fired a shot from the gun, a .357 revolver, into the ceiling of the store, ordering Criss to lie down face forward.

They demanded money and after emptying the cash register they took the owner's wallet.

"I wasn't scared except when I was face down on the floor," Criss said Wednesday. "With that gun at the back of my head, I didn't know what they might do."

Only about $100 to $125 was taken because Criss had taken most of the larger bills from the register and had placed them elsewhere. All the money and the contents of the wallet have been recovered.

Criss added that one way he identified the men after they were picked up by deputies and taken back to the store was the wallet, which contained only

P&H awards contract for new headquarters

BY D.C. HARVILL

The contract for construction of a new Port and Harbor Commission building has been awarded to a contractor from Picayune.

KanDuit, Inc. won the contract for the commission's new headquarters with a revised bid of $173,600.

The contractor's original low bid of $212,687 was considered too high, but Jim Knipper of KanDuit and project architect Michael Reeves of Bay St. Louis were able to reduce the figure by substituting and deleting items.

The approximately 3,500 square foot building will be constructed on Highway 90 across from Our Shopping Center in Waveland.

The commission currently is housed in a trailer on Highway 603 behind Waveland Resort Inn.

"The commission has been housed in the trailer for the past 15 years. The trailer is run down and there is no more room. The new building is a matter of convenience," said Harold 'Buz' Olsen, commission executive director.

According to Olsen, additional space also is needed for other agencies, including the Office of P&H—PAGE 5A

PURSE SNATCHING

Bay Police are looking for two men who snatched a woman's purse in the Jitney-Jungle parking lot and who are believed to have tried snatching another in Waveland.

Shortly after the unsuccessful attempt in Waveland, the Bay St. Louis incident occurred.

The purse snatcher was described as a black male approximately 30 years old. He made his getaway in a tan car with another black male. Both men were wearing football-type shirts, according to Investigator Tom Burleson.

The stolen purse contained $600 cash, credit cards and a check book.

The victim of the unsuccessful attempt gave an an Alabama tag number, but it did not match the description of the car, according to Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn.

The tag number given to Bay Police is 2AP9559, also from Alabama, Burleson said.

The stolen purse was recovered in a yard on North Beach along with all its contents except $400, Burleson said.

POT BUST

A Bay St. Louis city employee has been arrested for growing marijuana in his vegetable garden.

Larry Joseph Lewis, 38, 248 Ballentine St. was arrested Monday morning after police officers discovered 10 marijuana plants growing behind a row of tomato bushes, according to investigator Tom Burleson.

"It was hard to tell they were there," Chief Ray Murphy said.

Lewis, an employee of the Street Department, has been charged with cultivation of a controlled substance. He has been released on a $10,000 bond.

The arrest was made by Burleson, Murphy, Officer Chuck James and a narcotics officer.

P&H commissioners receive reappointments

BY D.C. HARVILL

The Hancock County Port and Harbor commissioners representing Bay St. Louis and Waveland have received reappointments.

Governor Ray Mabus announced last week that Nancy Gex of Waveland and Russell Elliott of Bay St. Louis will retain their seats on the commission for another four-year term.

Both Gex and Elliott, appointed by the governor based on recommendations from the mayors of their respective cities, have served on the commission since 1984.

The remaining five members of the seven-man commission, Oliver 'Bud' Frierson, Ronnie Artigues, Walter 'Pete' Beebe, Dave McDonald and Omer DeBever, are appointed by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

"They are super people. They've worked closely with me and are an integral part of the commission. I am glad to have them stay," said Commission Executive Director Harold 'Buz' Olsen.

Waveland Animal Shelter offers free gift package during 'Adopt-a-Cat' Month

June marks the 15th annual National Adopt-a-Cat Month, a time when cats across America will pay tribute to the millions of cat owners who have warmed their hearts and homes by putting out the welcome mat for a feline companion.

Campaign spokescat Morris, the 9-Lives Cat, proclaims 1989 "The Year of the Cat Owner" to serve as a reminder that cats are not the only ones to benefit from the human-animal relationship.

For 15 years, Adopt-a-Cat Month, sponsored by 9-Lives Cat Food, the American Humane Association and more than 1,000 animal shelters, has helped match up some 1.3 million senior citizens, young people, families and children alike with that purr-fect friend—a cat.

Cats have become such popular companions that a recent national survey of male and female heads of households indicates that "cuddling with a cat" outranks eating, drinking and even exercising as helpful in reducing stress.

"There's a warmth that comes from owning a pet that is unlike any other experience," says Ed Abson. "Our goal during Adopt-a-Cat Month is to encourage more people to discover the rewards of cat ownership, or, as we term it, the 'housewarming effect.'"

"Cats have come a long way in the last decade," adds Ed Abson. "No longer resigned to the back door step, they are an integral part of family life."

The important role that cats play in their owners' lives is further revealed in a study conducted by the University of Pennsylvania's Center for Interaction of Animals and Society.

It reports that 99 percent of dog and cat owners talk to their pets, while 40 percent keep pictures of their pets in their wallets and celebrate their pets' birthdays.

Over the years, Adopt-a-Cat Month not only has contributed to cats becoming the most popular household pet, but has helped educate people to the importance of responsible pet care—particularly neutering and spaying. Morris also encourages use of identification tags in helping to recover lost pets.

According to AHA, the annual Adopt-a-Cat Month effort has helped make inroads toward decreasing the homeless cat population. But there is still much to accomplish, as millions of healthy cats and kittens anxiously await adoption at shelters nationwide.

As an incentive to bring out cat lovers this June, Waveland Animal Shelter will be offering a special gift package to all new adopters.

The kit contains a 9-Lives product sample, supply of 9-Lives coupons, and the Morris Method book of cat care, which includes tips on vital topics such as nutrition and health care for pets.

Waveland Animal Shelter is located at 322 Gulfside Street and is open Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Adoption fees are $15.

FIRING LINE

The cold war has been the dominant factor in American foreign policy since shortly after World War II. But after more than 40 years of constant vigilance, distrust and antagonism between the U.S. and the Soviet Union, suddenly things seem to be changing. Is it true or is it a myth?

William F. Buckley Jr. addresses the question of whether it is really time to relax and rejoice or should America still be wary in "Resolved: The Cold War is Not Coming to an End" on Mississippi ETV at 9 p.m., Monday, June 19.

This live "Firing Line Special Debate" features Buckley, Rep. Newt Gingrich (R-Ga.); Richard Perle, former assistant secretary of defense for international security policy, and former Sen. John Tower, representing the conservative side.

to qualified property owners

According to the nationally circulated newspaper, USA TODAY, a crisis is brewing for home buyers with adjustable-rate mortgages. Monthly payments are going up DRASTICALLY. This news comes as quite a shock to 12 million families because, according to USA TODAY, "ARMs (adjustable-rate mortgages) have artificially low 'teaser rates' the first year, practically guaranteeing a hike (in the rate and in payments) the next year." In many cases, the "hike" will undoubtedly result in families losing their homes.

Now for the good news
Jim Walter Homes continues to offer 10% a.p.r. FIXED-RATE FINANCING. This means that, when Jim Walter builds and finances for you, your payment remains exactly the same throughout the entire term of the mortgage. Jim Walter GUARANTEES it. Even if you sell your home, the new owner will have the same payment.

What's more, with Jim Walter there are NO "points" and NO closing costs to inflate the cost to you. Neither is there "third party" red tape to delay construction. Credit approval is usually a matter of 24 to 48 hours, not days and days.

'The Swinging D's'—Rocky L., Ronnie Dufour and Shawn Gwin

Young drummer returns in Waveland performance

BY DENA BISNETTE

Ronnie Dufour is coming home to Waveland, but not just for a visit. The 21-year-old drummer will be performing with his band, The Swinging D's, at 9 p.m. Friday night in Myrtle's Lounge, US-90, Waveland.

The Swinging D's will be preceded by another band based in the New Orleans area, Antipathy.

Dufour has dreamed of being a professional musician since he started playing drums in the fifth grade. He moved to Waveland in the eighth grade and attended both Bay Junior High and Bay Senior High, attempting to start his career off and on during that time.

He started a band, Challenger, which included a number of members over several years during which, for one reason or another, Dufour could not get or keep jobs with professional bands like New Zealand and Knorr.

One of his friends from Waveland, Danny Carter, stayed with him until Challenger fell apart after both boys graduated from Bay High and Dufour moved to New Orleans.

Much of the problem Dufour had in developing his musical career here resulted from being too young to play in clubs that served liquor.

Now he is old enough and in spite of his youth, believes he and the Swinging D's are headed for success. They have produced a video, which Dufour says is "good but not good enough for MTV because that's only big budget stuff," and an album, "Who gives a D?" which was recorded in Waveland.

Although The Swinging D's have been together little more than a year, they are being featured intermittently in live radio broadcasts from Tipitina's by Tulane University's radio station and will be featured next month in a regional music magazine, "No Cover."

Currently, the band, which also includes Shawn Gwin on guitar and vocals and bass player and vocalist Rocky L., is touring the southeastern U.S. to promote the album.

The Waveland appearance begins the tour.

"I always wanted to come back to Waveland. My friends are here," Dufour said. "There's so much happening in music here but people don't know about it."

The band's style is a mixture of hard rock and funk with a light show described by the 1960's word, psychedelic.

"A lot of people remember us from the light show. It's unique," the drummer explained. The band's look goes with the light show, including flashy costumes and make-up.

"My other bands did well here, and if things work out Friday I want to come back again," he said, adding that some sort of live radio broadcast here might be good for the band and that he hopes he will eventually be able to play in the Mississippi Coast Coliseum.

He also likes the career he has chosen and is about to leave his day job due to the success of the band.

"It's fun, like a continuous vacation. You see different people every day and you always meet fans who like you wherever you play, if you do your job," Dufour said.

Seay said the call was received by the dispatcher at 9:57 p.m. and all of the department's available units were sent to Diamondhead to search for the men Criss described.

Deputy Matt Karl eventually spotted the two suspects standing behind Diamondhead Motel, near the Pontiac. The engine of the car was still running.

Although Criss was able to describe the men only as two black males, one of whom was buck-toothed, he feels the description of the car helped most.

Karl detained the men until the investigators found the wallet in the bathroom of a rented condominium.

Four sheriff's department officers who were on duty at the time, Deron Cuevas, Robert Nacaise, Terry Robinson and Nathan Hoda, participated in the search. However, Seay said others who were off-duty were called to help before it was completed.

"I'm glad they caught them," Criss said. "It made my night."

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Saturday will mark the official opening of the exercise track at Hancock Medical Center by the recreation department.

A Youth Health Fair is scheduled as part of the exercise track's opening.

As many of you know, the exercise track was recently surfaced, and there are already some folks walking the one-half mile course.

I tried the track myself on Monday evening, and when I made several walks around, there were six other persons exercising.

Hilda Bourg, Hancock County Recreation Department director, said the track still has to have some dressing done along the sides. This is now being completed as there had to be a three-week wait after the asphalt was laid.

I have a feeling that when the exercise track catches on, there will be continuous use of the facility by residents.

The fair on Saturday from 8 until 10 a.m. will be for children grades one through six, and for youths grades seven through 12 from 5 to 7 p.m.

Fitness experts will be on hand along with a guest appearance by body-builder Charles Hawkins.

A program of 'It's Fun to Keep Fit' will be presented first, followed by refreshments, nutritional advice and weightlifting.

Youths are asked to wear tennis shoes and loose clothing.

Pre-registration is preferred, call 467-8077 or 467-9529.

It sounds like it will be a fun time for all who participate.

The track is located on Hwy. 90 in front of the Hancock Medical Center.

While on the subject of youth, the Waveland Improvement Project will host a Community Festival on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The events will be held at the Martin Luther King Memorial Park, Herlihy Street, Waveland starting at 6 p.m. Friday; noon on Saturday and 2 p.m. on Sunday.

Clarence Harris, organizer, reports there will be fun, food and games as the festival is geared for the family.

Admission is free and the public is invited.

This is the first time for the organization to hold a three-day festival, and Harris said he hopes there will be a large attendance this year.

One of the primary functions of the Waveland Improvement Project is to give area youths something to do.

Remember, the festival will be Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Over the years at the newspaper I have watched the growth of the library system in Hancock County.

The library has really grown from a few rooms on Court Street not too many years ago.

The concern of those working in our library system, political leaders and friends of the library have helped in making the system what it is today in Hancock County.

One of the beautiful things is the system is not standing still—it continues to be expanded and update the services offered to the public.

I feel all those responsible for the continued growth of our library system should be commended.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

Education Act only small step in addressing educational woes

Mississippi received national attention in 1982 for its efforts to improve education in Mississippi when the Legislature passed the Education Reform Act.

The long awaited, terribly needed, sometimes controversial effort put Mississippi in the nation's education spotlight. It, in fact, preceded by one year the national study, "A Nation At Risk," that uncovered and pointed out major flaws in the nation's educational system.

Although Mississippi's 1982 Education Reform Act became somewhat of a national model, it was only a small first step in addressing the state's educational woes.

Last week, at an economic development conference on the Gulf Coast, Ed Lupberger, chairman and CEO of Entergy Corporation, the parent company of Mississippi Power & Light, went as far as to say that education in Mississippi will have to be reinvented if the state's economy is to be improved, noting that anything less and Mississippi will be left out when unparalleled economic opportunities present themselves over the next decade.

Governor Ray Mabus, who addressed the same group, pointed out that while Mississippi is improving her education system faster than many states—a point many people overlook—Mississippi was so far behind when reform was started in 1982 that the state remains last in many categories.

Like Lupberger, the governor, too, warned of the ill-fated destiny the state will face if it fails to educate today's students for tomorrow's jobs.

The governor is presently traveling the state, signing up people to participate in what will be known as "E. R. II" (Education Reform II). He is even asking for recommendations.

The business community in Mississippi should take the governor up on his proposal. In addition, it is better to help form the policy than change it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Shrimpers urged to attend public hearings

To the Editor:

Mississippi Shrimper, it's time for a change!

Don't let the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife Conservation tell you that live bait shrimpers have the right to shrimp weeks before everybody else or should have the privilege of shrimping "closed" waters that are badly needed for the survival of young shrimp and fish.

If we continue catching everything year after year it won't be long before there won't be a shrimp industry at all. Live baiters and half of the so-called recreational shrimpermen sell their shrimp for the same American dollars as you.

Stand up for your rights and the rights of everybody to be equal. Let the commission and your senators and representatives know how you feel. Americans are supposed to be treated equally and fairly by those entrusted to create and monitor our laws.

Attend the public hearing on "Live Bait." Ask for fairness. Everybody and everything equal...one price for a license, for each and everybody, all shrimp during the same period, in the same open areas, and with the right to sell your shrimp as you will.

A few hours of your time now may mean many more dollars in your pocket later. Let's all make a living together and save the tax dollars spent year after year on shrimping rules that are designed to benefit only a handful of people...all under the disguise of "conservation" or "serving the public interest."

No one should have an unfair advantage over you! Speak up for your rights before you lose them.

Please attend these 'Live Bait' hearings:

June 19, 7 p.m., Marine Education Center, Biloxi.

June 21, 7 p.m., Jackson County Convention Center.

June 22, 7 p.m., Hancock County Courthouse.

Thank you, Lionel T. Bordages Jr. Live Bait Dealer Lakeshore

Time invested in scouting program reaps results

To the Editor:

Congratulations to all Honor Roll students! A special awards program was held Friday, May 26 at the Bay Senior High School gymnasium for the Alpha/Beta Honor Roll students who received awards for their outstanding work during the 1988-89 school year. The program was sponsored by the North Bay Elementary PTO.

As a unit commissioner for scouting, I'm very pleased to note that many of the students who received honors were in the scouting program of the Cypress District East of Hancock County.

I would like to think that the scouting program in our area is having a good impact on our youth. Take note sponsors, your contributions are being utilized and are producing well-rounded youth.

Congratulations again to our youth, our sponsors of scouting, and a big thank you to our scouting volunteers.

Sincerely, Tom Williams Unit Commissioner

Produce growers vary in sweetness—like their products

Dear Editor,

This Sunday my family decided to take advantage of the local produce, so using ads we found in the Echo we headed up Hwy. 603.

Our first stop was to pick blueberries at the home of Clarice Lee. Miss Lee was wonderful, taking us out to the bushes showing us which berries were ripe and ever giving us recipes for using the berries. Miss Lee was sweeter than her blueberries and they were delicious!

We went farther up the highway to a farm which had a sign that peaches were $6 a bushel.

We were given a basket and directions to the orchard which we thought we'd followed pretty well. We picked a bushel and went back to the house where we were told we'd picked from the wrong place and the peaches we'd picked were $12 a bushel. We felt like we had "sucker" written across our foreheads. Talk about ruin a good day!

It's a shame that for every wonderful person like Clarice Lee there's a rip-off like the farm right up the road.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Mississippi to end fiscal year with $100 million

While neighboring Louisiana wrestles with a $700 million deficit, Mississippi is about to enter fiscal year 1990 on July 1 in surprisingly good financial shape.

As a matter of fact, Mississippi is going to wind up FY 89 with a cash balance of $100 million, some $35 million more than lawmakers thought was going to be on hand when they wound up the 1988 session on April 2.

Perhaps if the Legislature had known it had $35 million more money to spend than expected, it could have given state employees an across-the-board raise instead of no pay hike because the money supposedly wasn't there.

The 1989 Legislature had increased the general fund budget for FY 90 by $75 million over the 89 FY budget, but nearly 85 percent of the increase went for two items: Medicaid and teachers' salaries.

To pay for the second stage of a two-phase $3,800 teacher pay increase lawmakers had voted at the 1988 session, the Legislature had to come up with an additional $43 million in the new budget.

Many lawmakers had feared that the ambitious 1988 teacher pay hike to bring the state close to the southeastern states average was going to necessitate a tax hike at the 1989 session, but an unexpected surge in tax receipts absorbed the impact of the teacher raises.

Medicaid, the state-federal program to provide medical care to the needy, was given $20 million more in state funds, but some $7 million of that came from the closing of the three charity hospitals in Meridian, Laurel and Vicksburg.

Incidentally, Medicaid, which gets $475 million in federal matching funds, is now the second largest expenditure in state government behind public education at a total of $597.2 million.

A recent tabulation by the publication State Policy reports showed Mississippi ranked 13th in the nation in the percentage of the total state budget dedicated to elementary and secondary education.

Mississippi, according to the SPR tabulation, put 26.1 percent of its overall state budget into elementary and secondary schools, as compared to the national average of 23.3 percent.

In percentage of the total state budget allotted to higher education, Mississippi at 14.4 percent ranked 20th in the nation according to the SPR tabulation, ahead of such larger states as Texas, New York, Florida, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The budget dilemma in Louisiana has largely been attributed to the sharp decline in the past four to five years in oil and gas tax revenues, on which Louisiana's budget has always heavily depended.

Mississippi, even though it has lost some $60 million in oil and gas severance taxes per year since 1982, has been able to offset that loss largely from a rather spectacular boom in individual and corporate income taxes the past two years.

For the first 11 months of FY 89, individual income taxes are running $29 million ahead of estimates, and corporate income taxes are running $11.9 million over the estimate.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

One of Mother nature's compensations for these sultry, hot summer days is the luscious abundance of fresh vegetables of all sorts, don't you think?

And, for a tomato devotee such as I, those sun-ripened Creole and other tomatoes all around us these days make summertime meals a taste of Heaven, and so much easier in so many ways!

As a child, I used to snatch tomatoes, still warm from the sun, right out of the garden patch, and devour them without any further embellishment than a sprinkle of salt or cayenne pepper—and I'd be doing the same thing at this moment, if my annual optimistic tomato-growing attempts weren't busy turning into the annual fiasco just outside the window of my study—so I rely on greener, thumb-friends or the farmers' markets or the produce counters!

There are so many ways to enjoy tomatoes, from salads and sandwiches to sauces and casserole dishes, from fried ripe or green tomatoes to more elaborate concoctions.

At this time of year, I make my tomato sauces from fresh tomatoes, with lots of bell (green) pepper and green onions and other onions and such. I'm also very partial to uncooked fresh tomato sauces, especially with pasta or chicken. Here's:

hair or fettucini or thin spaghetti)

3 or 4 large ripe tomatoes, peeled and seeded, cut into pieces

1 clove garlic, peeled and chopped fine

1 medium onion, peeled and chopped fine

1/2 bell (green) pepper, chopped as you prefer

1 Tbsp. fresh oregano (or 1/2 tsp. dried)

4 basil leaves (or 1/2 tsp. dried basil)

1/2 cup olive oil

Fresh-ground pepper, salt to your taste

Place tomatoes in a bowl, add remaining ingredients, mixing well together. Meanwhile, cook and drain the pasta of your choice, add half the tomato mixture and toss gently, then add the remaining sauce and serve at once. (Four to six servings.)

I often make this up ahead of time, and in larger batches, and refrigerate, bringing it to room temperature before I add the pasta. At other times, I use this fresh tomato sauce with broiled or sauteed chicken, serving along with fresh string beans and new potatoes.

Commission agrees to pay court-mandated settlement

BY D.C. HARVILL

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission Monday agreed to pay a $40,362 settlement awarded to a contractor who did work at Stennis Airpark.

The settlement was awarded to Southland Enterprises in March after the company successfully sued the commission for withholding part of a nearly $400,000 contract.

The commission withheld payment of $83,083 because the contract was not completed on schedule. The company contended that the delays were caused by the county.

A jury ruled in favor of the plaintiff, Southland.

Judge Thomas recently denied a motion by the commission to have the decision reversed.

"While we feel this is not a fair decision by the court, there is no use discussing it any longer. The court has mandated that we must pay them. At least it's not the full amount they asked for," Commissioner Dave McDonald said.

The full amount of payment mandated by the court, including costs, is $41,276.

The commission's motion to pay the settlement will be presented to the County Board of Supervisors.

According to McDonald, the commission has money earmarked for the payment.

Saenger's pipe organ featured in concert

In a concert which is free and open to the public for the first time in more than a decade, the Saenger theater's pipe organ in New Orleans will again be the star of the show.

The $100,000 four-manual, 26-rank, 265-stop, 40-ton Robert-Morton "Wonder" organ was considered by its builders to be their finest masterpiece when it was installed in 1927.

The concert, which is scheduled for June 19 at 2 p.m. will be performed by organist Dr. J. Thomas Mitts.

The Saenger's organ is the last remaining pipe organ in a theater in New Orleans where pipe organs were once very popular in many theaters throughout the city during the 1920's and 30's.

The program is funded in part by a MEG/Arts Grant from the Arts Council of the city of New Orleans. It is held in conjunction with the national convention of The Organ Historical Society being held in New Orleans June 19-24.

During the convention, members of the Organ Historical Society are planning tours of some 25 historic instruments in the city and surrounding areas.

Persons interested in obtaining more information may contact the OHS at the Monteleone Hotel the week of June 19-24 or by calling Rachelien Lien, president of the New Orleans Chapter of OHS at (504) 899-1139, or David H. Stockstill, New Orleans Chapter OHS member at 1-798-3129.

attributed much of the rise in state income taxes to the unexpected benefits of the 1986 federal Income Tax Reform Act which eliminated certain deductions taxpayers could previously claim.

The one negative in the state's revenue picture is the sales tax—the source of 45 percent of the state's general fund revenue—which hasn't been performing up to expectations the past six or eight months. Indicating a slowdown in consumer purchases.

Also, to help balance the FY 90 budget without raising taxes, the Legislature used some $21 million in one-time special funds which will be non-recurring when lawmakers have to fund the FY 91 budget.

"We have no safety net insofar as revenue is concerned," said Robert A. Greenlee, director of the Legislative Budget Office. "But overall, I'm rather optimistic."

At least state lawmakers can breathe a little easier about the fiscal outlook for another year. But that can quickly come undone if any major new program, such as Education Reform Act II, is undertaken next year.

Don't let allergies keep you indoors

Do you suffer from sneezing, a runny nose and itchy, watery eyes when you venture into "the great outdoors?" Chances are that you are one of 40 million people who suffer from allergies. Don't despair—being an allergy-sufferer doesn't mean that you can't spend comfortable, enjoyable time outside. With a little knowledge and planning, the great outdoors can be yours to explore and enjoy. Myths and facts about allergies

• Myth: Pollen from brightly-colored flowers is as allergy-aggravating as pollen from ordinary plants.

• Fact: Allergies are caused mostly by light, wind-borne pollen from trees, grasses and weeds. Don't worry about the colorful, scented flowers like goldenrod, whose pollen is too heavy and sticky to be carried by the wind.

• Myth: Pollen from grasses is the highest cause of allergies.

• Fact: Ragweed pollen causes the most allergies, followed by various grass and tree pollens. As a general rule, trees pollinate in the spring, grasses in the summer and ragweed from August to October.

• Myth: Pollen counts are highest after rainfall.

• Fact: Pollen counts are highest on warm, sunny days and lowest on cool, cloudy days or after a rainfall. Most radio stations warn of high pollen count days.

• Myth: Pollen counts stay the same throughout the day.

• Fact: Pollen counts are highest in the morning and gradually decrease throughout the day.

• Myth: Allergies lessen in the winter because cold air kills pollen.

• Fact: Frost does kill outdoor pollen-producing plants. However, your allergies may continue to be triggered by indoor allergens and irritants such as mold, animal dander and dust.

Recreational water safety could save your life

Persons relaxing along the beaches of Gulf Islands National Seashore are reminded that recreational safety means knowing your limits, understanding the hazards and planning in advance.

"The following safety reminders will help to ensure that everyone has a healthy, fun and safe visit to the numerous beach areas located within Gulf Islands National Seashore," said Jerry Eubanks, superintendent.

At times, surf will develop strong currents (rip tides and undertow). Visitors should not swim or wade in hazardous surf, and never swim alone.

Everyone, especially families with children, should use the lifeguard protected beaches located throughout the National Seashore whenever possible. After long periods of inactivity, your body is not ready for strenuous exertion such as swimming.

Always pace yourself when beginning physical activities. Long periods of exertion without adequate rest breaks make you more likely to experience muscle cramps and exhaustion while swimming.

Avoid vigorous physical activities for at least one hour after eating and wait at least one hour after each alcohol drink before swimming or other physical exertion. Children are special visitors to the Seashore and should never be left unattended, especially near the water.

Feet First—First Time means checking to be sure that the water is deep and safe enough before diving in head first.

Rafts, air mattresses and inner tubes are fun, but winds blowing offshore or from the north could blow you out into deep water. Persons using flotation devices should always use them cautiously. Scuba divers are reminded to always dive with a partner and to display the diving flag when underwater.

"Everyone is reminded to pace themselves while enjoying recreational opportunities," said Eubanks. Visitors should gradually begin their first few minutes of swimming or diving. Over exertion will tire you sooner and make you more prone to injury. Start your recreational activities slowly and increase exertion gradually.

Never ignore pain, breathlessness, numbness or other physical signs, they are warnings that your body is nearing its limits and that you should stop and rest by getting out of the water.

Think like a kid when you plan a family vacation

With so many families on the move, today's children are seeing more of the United States and the world than any other generation. If parents look at the confinement of travel from a young child's perspective, getting anywhere with your child, whether by plane, train or car, can be turned into a great adventure!

Planning ahead for your child's entertainment will determine whether you reach your destination or your wit's end first.

Drawing from her own experiences as a parent and preschool teacher, Lane Nemeth, CEO and founder of California-based Discovery Toys, offers a few tips that will make any trip, short or long, a better one for everyone.

Children are used to being active, and not limited to confined spaces. If traveling by car, you need to make regular, short stops to run or play, or explore something new. Even walking around on a plane or train gives kids an exercise break.

Before you go, create a travel toy pack that includes several small items. Good choices are crayons, a notebook, card games, compact board games and activity books, like Discovery Toys' My Travel Book, an erasable book of games and puzzles.

Snacks are also a diversion. Select healthy snacks that travel well, like dry cereal and raisins, and pack water for thirst.

Bring along a ball or jump rope for burning off pent-up energy on car trips.

Sing-alongs are a favorite activity for toddlers on up. Bring along a cassette player, lots of tapes and spare batteries.

Headphones are a necessity on planes, and for the driver's peace of mind. Sounds Like Fun and the lively music of Joe Scruggs' Oh, By The Way are Discovery Toys' top sellers.

Marriage Encounter weekend planned in Slidell, June 23-25

A Marriage Encounter weekend has been set for Friday through Sunday, June 23-25 at the Holiday Inn in Slidell, according to Ann and Rosemary Fries, participants.

The weekend will be sponsored by the Gulf Lake Marriage Encounter Community, comprising St. Thomas Parish in Louisiana and the Mississippi Gulf Coast Area. It will begin at 8 p.m. on Friday.

Marriage Encounter is for any married couple who desires a richer and fuller life together. The weekend provides a safe and marriage-a great marriage according to the Fries. They describe the weekend as a personal Don't get mad at Uncle Sam. Get even with tax deferred earnings.

When you invest in a tax deferred investment plan, you can take advantage of the tax benefits of a 401(k) plan. With a 401(k) plan, you can contribute up to $15,000 per year (or $18,000 if you are over 50) to a tax deferred investment plan. The contributions are made on a pre-tax basis, meaning they are deducted from your gross pay before taxes are applied. This reduces your taxable income for the year, which can result in a lower tax bill when you file your taxes. Additionally, the investments in the plan grow tax-deferred, meaning you won't pay taxes on the gains until you withdraw the funds. This can be a powerful way to build wealth over time.

SECTION B

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, JUNE 15, 1989-1B

Time Out

By Dena Bisnette

With June acting like August and high heat and humidity conditions, anyone participating in outdoor activities should guard against heat stroke and other ailments which can occur when the body's natural cooling system does not function properly.

People burning up a lot of energy in sports should be particularly careful.

Those who are involved in team sports have some advantages, in that they are not likely to be alone when problems occur and most coaches are familiar with heat-related ailments.

Information on avoiding these problems and what to do if they occur can be obtained from agencies like Red Cross and Hancock County Extension Service as well as local medical centers.

The Diamondhead Four-Ball Golf Tournament will be Saturday and Sunday at Diamondhead's Cardinal Course, starting each day at 10 a.m.

Entries are limited to 64 teams and the fee is $250 per team or $125 per person. Prizes will be awarded to the top five teams in each flight, ranging from $400 per golfer or $800 per team for first place down to $200 per golfer or $400 per team for fifth place.

For details, call Diamondhead Pro Phil Hill at 255-3910.

Congratulations to the Bay-Waveland and Pass Christian Yacht Clubs, which came in first and second, respectively, in the Chapman Regatta.

One of the Pass Christian sailors told me the Chapman usually boils down to a contest between the two local clubs and that it takes a lot of depth to do the race well, as there must be different skippers for each of four races and each club sends four boats to race.

Several events are coming up at Tennis World in Diamondhead, beginning June 22. Pro Lis Lagarde will begin offering junior tennis clinics on Thursday mornings.

Sessions for beginners to advanced beginners are 9 a.m. to 10:15 a.m., with intermediate to advanced from 10:30 a.m. until noon. The fee is $3.50 per student.

Also at Tennis World, adult round robin doubles tournaments are starting again with two times to choose from, 9:30 a.m. Fridays and 2:30 p.m. Sundays. A Thursday night doubles and mixed doubles league is also starting.

By the way, Lagarde said you don't have to bring a partner to play. Also, these events are open to the public as well as to Diamondhead residents.

Tennis World is also going to offer a free adult clinic for beginners. A date hasn't been set, but one will be determined within the next couple of weeks. Anyone interested in participating may call 255-2525, extension 300.

Late registration is being accepted for a National Cheerleader Association camp hosted by the Hancock North Central cheerleaders.

The camp is from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. June 26-28 and is open to boys and girls ages 7-14. Fee is $45 per camper.

For more information, call Hancock North Central at 255-7191 or cheerleader sponsor Kay Hall Lovelace at 255-7042.

Congratulations, too, go to a local runner, Brian Brooks of Bay St. Louis, who was overall winner in the annual Pine Hill Celebration run at Wiggins last week; his time was 15:49 in the 5K. A second Bay runner, Robbie Bourgeois, placed third in his division, 13-18, coming in at 28:13.

The Bay St. Louis American Legion Post 139 baseball team remains undefeated with a 5-0 record. Games coming up this week include an away game against Purvis, 6 p.m. tonight; a home game, 7 p.m. Friday against Ponchatoula; an away double header against Biloxi, 2 p.m. Saturday; and an away double header at Long Beach, 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Don't forget! The Sea Coast Echo can run sports and sports-related items for you in Time Out. To submit items either bring them by our office by Tuesday, preferably before noon, or call Dena Bisnette at 467-5474. You're also welcome to mail them in, but be sure you send them early enough that they'll arrive here by Tuesday.

Right now, we are particularly interested in obtaining scores and information on local summer sports programs. With several games each week, we know there are some folks out there who can't get to all of them but would enjoy reading about them.

Sailing lessons offered at Bay Yacht Club

Sailing lessons for children are being offered at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club weekdays now through June 30.

A second session will be held July 3 - 28. Duane Koch, U.S. Yacht Racing Union Level I certified instructor, will teach morning and afternoon classes.

Adult classes are also offered. For information, call 467-4592.

Diamondhead Boaters Association

Special to the Echo
By Liz and Bud Barnes

"Son-of-a-gun, we did have fun" at the Diamondhead Boaters Association annual Jambalaya and Fais-do-do at the Diamondhead Community Center on June 3. Over 140 members turned out to be "Cajunized" with authentic Cajun food, dress, music and joke-telling.

Some came early to observe J. Guidry of Baton Rouge cooking his jambalaya on the spot and to gain some helpful hints. His out-door kitchen was well-protected from the afternoon rain by a tent courtesy of Riemann Funeral Home.

Testament to Guidry's skill were the empty paper plates discarded after eating. Testament to the fine spices used was the abrupt increase in consumption after eating of "swampwater" punch concocted by Bill Mullinix. A follow-up delight were the scrumptious strawberry cakes prepared by members Verna Terry and Lola Mullinix.

Someone said the Louisiana two-step is the appropriate dance to go with the Cajun music played by the New Orleans band "File Gumbo"—but more four- than two-steps were observed.

A special treat this year was provided by Jules d'Hernecourt. Jules is well known in Louisiana as a teller of jokes based on Cajun folklore. His repertoire and delivery was highly entertaining and those who could understand him were still laughing a day later. Unfortunately, much of his wit and humor were lost on a sizeable portion of the audience because the combination of his sound system and the building acoustics were not adequate to handle the liberal sprinkling of Cajun dialect he artfully employed.

The producer of this, another great boaters' party, was Verna Terry and her committee, including Gloria Barber, Nina and Lou Cotton, Lola and Bill Mullinix, Betty Peters and Pat Stafford.

The ladies were dressed in typical Acadian costume of yesteryear created by Nina Cotton based on sketches from a history of Acadians in Louisiana by Rodrigue.

The Cajun Country decorations, complete with alligators, were complemented by a display of models of a typical Cajun dwelling and an oil rig built by Lou Cotton and a shrimp boat complete with trawler donated by Joe McDonald. Fais-do-do? Elementary for all Louisianians, Cajun or not. A fais-do-do is a Louisiana country dance party.

Wildlife, parks undergo reorganization

Beginning July 1, the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation will take on a new name and new look. If you haven't already, you may want to practice saying: Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

The new organization was part of Gov. Ray Mabus' reorganization plan passed during the last session of the Legislature.

The plan calls for the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks to be made up of a five-member commission appointed by the governor, an executive director appointed by the governor, and three major department divisions: Wildlife and Fisheries, Parks and Recreation, and Support Services.

According to Wildlife Administrative Services Director Bill Quisenberry, the new state agency will have some 1,000 permanent and part-time employees in all 82 counties.

The agency's operating budget will approach $30 million.

Quisenberry said that between now and July 1, staff from the Department of Wildlife Conservation and the Department of Natural Resources will be busy working with the transition council to smooth the way for the merger of the Bureau of Parks and Recreation into the new agency July 1.

"Right now, things like payroll, insurance, purchasing, and various administrative chores are being worked out," Quisenberry said.

The reorganization act called for the establishment of a transition council. It is made up of members of the governor's staff, Fiscal Management Board, Bureau of Building, Central Data Processing Authority, Personnel Board and members of the Legislature.

Five locals play in Elks Classic

BY DENA BISNETTE

Five local players took the field Saturday in the Biloxi Elks Association-sponsored South Mississippi All-Star Classic.

The double header featured Gulf Coast baseball standouts who were seniors this year, including Doug Power, Scott Heitzmann, Marc Matherne, Patrick Bonney and Bruce Blaker.

The Gulf Coast Players were all on the West Squad, which dropped the first game 7-1 to the East team and won the second game 4-1.

Power played caught for the West during the second game. At Bay High, he finished the season with a .333 batting average, 19 RBIs, one homer and 78 at bats. He was 3-1-0 for the all-star game.

Heitzmann, of St. Stanislaus, played right field and catcher in the first half of the double header, then switched to left field for the second game. At Bay High, Heitzmann had also played as catcher. His batting average was .517 with 26 RBIs, five home runs and 60 ABs.

Heitzmann's stats for the first game were 1-0-0 and 2-0-1.

Matherne, primarily a defensive player at St. Stanislaus, played short stop in the first game and switched to third base for the second. He went 2-0-0 and 4-1-1 in the double header. His high school batting average was .396 with six RBIs and 53 ABs.

Patrick Bonney of Pass Christian had a high school average of .211 with 18 RBIs, one homer and eight ABs. He played third base in the first game and second base in the second game, going 1-0-0 in both contests.

Blaker, also a Pass Christian senior, stayed with the first base position for both games. His statistics for the double header were 1-0-0 and 2-0-1. His batting average prior to the classic was .271 with 22 RBIs and five ABs.

Coach for the West team was Henry Odenwald.

PRCC baseball team to lose nine sophomore standouts

About the only real problem with success in anything is maintaining that level once you have reached it.

That's the situation facing Pearl River Community College's baseball coach Jim Nightengale following the Wildcats' second trip to the Region 23 Tournament in as many years.

Nightengale said he will be losing the services of nine sophomores following his squad's 27-19 year, a season in which the Cats finished second to Hinds in the South Division race (with a 16-8 record) and in the state tournament.

Among the players lost to the squad next season are Jimmy Agent, a pitcher from Oak Grove who was 5-4 on the year and signed with South Alabama;

Jesse Logan, a pitcher/outfielder from Bay St. Louis who was 7-3 on the mound, hit .321 and signed with Livingston University;

Todd Russell, a pitcher from Petal who posted a 6-3 record this season and signed a scholarship with Ole Miss.

Catcher Mike Weems of Bay St. Louis, who hit .252 and signed with North Alabama, and second baseman Jay Artiques of Bay St. Louis who hit .415 but has not yet signed with a university.

Graduation will take its heaviest toll on the pitching corps, Nightengale said.

Ray Morris of Poplarville will be the only returning pitcher with any experience, and he was a reliever this season.

Fortunately for the Cats, there is a lot of talent available this year.

Nightengale said he has already had four pitchers agree to play for the squad next season—Hattiesburg's right-handers Patrick James and Jamie Williamson (who also plays shortstop), and Picayune right-handers Dwayne Stockstill and Bryan Carroll.

Lumberton's Eddie Owens, second baseman/outfielder, and Charles Williams, an outfielder, will also join the team.

He said that the talent available this year is an indication of the improvement in local baseball programs.

In the past, he said, most players were playing only 20 to 30 games during the three months of summer, then moving to a junior/community college program where they were expected to play a 50-game schedule over a two-month span.

He said the level of play at junior/community college's has also improved, especially in the South Division.

"The South had better baseball talent overall this season," Nightengale said. And the proof is in the fact that Hinds made it to the junior college World Series this year.

He said that more and more junior colleges are improving their facilities and getting players, which in the past may have chosen Division I schools.

Nightengale said an indication of the improved caliber of talent in the junior college ranks is the increased attention of pro scouts.

Special Olympics allows handicapped to shine

A group of supporters helped make special things possible this past weekend in Biloxi. The Mississippi Gulf Coast Pool (billionard) Association donated $800 to help sponsor the MSO Area 3 Special Olympics in the 1989 MSO State Summer Games.

Special Olympics offers its sports program to individuals with mental retardation at no charge to them or to their families.

Thanks to the many sponsors, volunteers, parents, coaches and communities, these special individuals are given the opportunity to develop their physical and mental skills, make new friends, improve their self esteem, and become productive citizens.

Mississippi Special Olympics extends a sincere thank you to the Gulf Coast for helping make this year's games possible and successful.

USM baseball camps promise fun, fundamentals

Students wishing to learn more about baseball may wish to attend one of several summer baseball camps planned at the University of Southern Mississippi during June and July.

A Golden Eagle Baseball Camp will be held June 19-23 for students in grades seven through 12, with another session for third through sixth graders scheduled July 5-7.

The camps are designed to teach sound baseball fundamentals to each camper, regardless of the camper's level of skill upon enrolling. Emphasis will be placed on both learning and having fun at all times.

Special features of the camps will include individual and team instruction; outstanding coaches; air-conditioned dormitories; planned menus; adult supervision; guest speakers and films; and access to the campus swimming pool. Campers may attend on a full-time ($160) or part-time ($100) basis.

How to fish flooded timber

The old saying, "You can't see the forest because of the trees," sometimes applies to bass fishing, too.

Lakes filled with flooded timber look as if they should hold a bass behind every tree, but in truth, such lakes are often extremely difficult to fish. Anglers overlook other factors, such as bottom structure, current or water temperature because they're so busy casting to the trees.

"Sometimes the best thing to do when fishing a lake full of flooded timber is to completely ignore the timber," says Johnson Outboards Pro Staff member Jerry Rhyne. "When everything looks so good you don't concentrate as much on what you're doing, and as a result, you don't accomplish as much, either."

"It's like being a bull in a china shop. You run around without any real direction, casting here and there, hitting stumps and scratching your boat but not catching any fish."

If you're determined to fish the trees, Rhyne offers several suggestions. First, look for different types of wood, such as cedars, pines or oaks. Fish each type carefully, as bass often relate to one specific type of tree on a lake.

Second, explains the North Carolina pro, look for larger trees. Bigger trees frequently have more limbs or debris around their bases, which make them more attractive to bass.

Third, study water depths around the trees. Look for more gradual depth changes, and for underwater features like humps and points.

"It's important to learn how to 'read' timber," says Rhyne, "because the trees can tell you a lot about possible bottom structure. Channels are often lined by big cypress trees, for example, and cedars often grow on flat, gravel bottoms. Oak trees frequently grow in low lying areas where the bottom may be soft and mucky, while pines may signal an underwater ridge or high spot."

"Another thing to look for is anything unusual in the trees themselves. There may be one really big tree in a forest of smaller ones, or a clump of pines in the middle of an oak forest. These places, for whatever reason, are frequently used by bass and are always worth casting to."

A variety of lures can be used to fish flooded timber says

Rhyne, including spinnerbaits, plastic worms and jigs. One of Rhyne's favorites is a 1/2-ounce double willow leaf spinnerbait with size 5 and 7 blades.

"The willow leaf spinnerbait is good in the fall months because it looks like baitfish," explains the Johnson Outboards pro. "Unless the water is extremely clear, I work a basic depth between five and eight feet, and bump the lure through the trees."

"In the summer, bass may suspend 10 to 15 feet down in flooded timber if the water is deep, but by fall the fish begin to move up closer to the surface and readily hit a spinnerbait. A large plastic worm with a light slip sinker also works well in timber, too, especially if you swim it slowly through the limbs."

Because bass suspended in deep flooded timber are among the most difficult of all to catch, Rhyne also suggests looking for another type of timber that will usually be present in any lake that has standing trees. This is fallen timber, generally referred to as "laydowns."

"A fallen tree offers much more cover than a standing one," says Rhyne, "and because it does, a bass will often stay in shallow water to use it. These are spinnerbait or jig fish that can be caught, but they're frequently very spooky and require very accurate casting and presentation."

On clear lakes, Rhyne suggests anglers consider using light line testing between six and eight pounds to finesse fish out of the heavy cover. In dingy water, heavier line can be used.

"It is possible to lead bass out of heavy timber and brush before setting the hook," he points out. "Once the fish bites, all you have to do is keep gentle pressure on the line and gradually pull the fish into open water. Once it's away from the cover, you set the hook."

The experts at OMC, manufacturers of Johnson and Evinrude outboards, recommend engine owners apply a thin coating of OMC Triple-Guard grease on the steering cable ram of remote controlled outboards. The grease will help the steering work smoothly and keep it from seizing. The grease should be applied several times each season and before winter storage.

World War I memorabilia sought by Ole Miss historian, author Cooke

Such was the clamor of U.S. soldiers to get to Europe for World War I that one Army general pirated two troop ships for his division and struck out for France on his own. General Pershing was not pleased and eventually managed to relieve the overzealous warrior.

War fever gripped America, recalled University of Mississippi military historian Professor James Cooke, now at work on a book about the era. There were massive signups. States of the Union were feuding over who would cross the Atlantic first.

"President Wilson and Secretary of War Newton Baker decided to use the National Guard to settle the matter. Rather than offend any state or region, they created a special division," said Dr. Cooke.

It was the 42nd Infantry—the Rainbow Division—so named by then-Major Douglas MacArthur because it covered all the rainbow colors of Americana. It didn't really, but 26 of the 48 states were represented.

History Professor Cooke is embarking on a history of the famed 42nd, who, he says, sometimes fought among themselves as diligently as they fought the enemy. A wholesale riot once broke out at their main training ground, Camp Mill, N.Y.

"It hadn't been long since their forefathers had fought against each other in the Civil War," said Cooke, "and American attitudes hadn't changed a great deal in that period of time."

However, Cooke relates, the 42nd Infantry made a fine accounting in the war, throwing its 28,000 men into major battles and occupying parts of Germany until 1919, two years after the conflict's end.

"There are a lot of stories about the Rainbow Division," said Cooke. "It had colorful personalities like MacArthur and 'Wild Bill' Donovan, and a young George Patton supported them as commander of a tank battalion."

Though much has been said about the division, little has been written, said Cooke, who sees his book as being not just military history but social history given the diverse makeup of the unit.

"I want to know how the idea worked, how they worked together, the roles of the different states," he said.

Cooke finds disappointing the small amount of historical literature on World War I, which is totally overshadowed by the great attention given the Civil War and World War II.

The sparsity of good scholarship, however, is one of Cooke's strongest motivations, along with a strong collection of World War I uniforms and artifacts that he uses regularly in his classes and lectures on the war.

In addition to archives in Washington and the Military History Institute, he will draw heavily from his large personal collection of letters written by a Rainbow soldier and the collected papers of a machine gun battalion.

The letters were written by a private from Iowa. He draws a sharp contrast between the fiery spirit of American soldiers flocking to Europe and the grim reality of death and deprivation in the trenches. "He talks about how his whole world had changed," said Cooke.

For his research, Cooke would welcome any and all calls from people who have World War I letters or artifacts moldering in the attic. His number is (601) 234-6145.

Newborn wildlife better left alone

They are cute. They are cuddly. And most people's first impulse is to pick up wildlife young and carry them home.

Wrong, say the state Department of Wildlife Conservation. It is illegal and it could be dangerous to your health.

For years laws have been enforced to prevent the public from holding game and furbearing animals in captivity.

Then, last fall the Commission on Wildlife Conservation passed regulations further strengthening existing laws making it illegal to hold the following animals in captivity: white-tailed deer, gray squirrel, fox squirrel, cottontail rabbit, swamp rabbit, raccoon, opossum, bobcat, river otter, muskrat, mink, nutria, skunk, weasel and wild turkey.

Beginning July 1, state wildlife conservation officers will begin writing citations for those possessing captive wildlife without a permit.

"The main reason we are doing this is to get the general public out of the business of holding wildlife captive," enforcement chief Dan Tullos said.

Tullos explained that the business of captive wildlife has developed from people picking up what they perceive to be wildlife stranded and needing attention. Deer fawns, he says, are a good example.

"Each summer many Mississippians find deer fawns in the fields or woods, assuming they have been abandoned by their mother. But in the majority of cases, this isn't true. Most of the time the doe deer has placed the fawn there and will return to it," he said.

For people to have captive wildlife in possession, Tullos says, they must, among other things: 1) Make application for a permit on or before April 1, 1989, or as soon as possible thereafter; 2) Have the game or furbearing animals in private possession on or before Jan. 28, 1989; and 3) Sign a statement agreeing to all conditions of the permit allowing them to keep captive wildlife.

"Basically our goal is to have all listed species of game and furbearing animals out of the hands of everyone except those meeting the necessary requirements," chief of game Ed Hackett said.

He said there is a possibility of health hazards developing if captive wildlife are not cared for properly. "We don't want the animals being abused by being kept under inadequate conditions and in improper facilities. It's just not fair to the animals," Hackett said.

Wildlife officials also say that picking up or taking home baby animals could be dangerous. They may be carrying rabies, distemper, or even bubonic plague that could affect you and your household.

Young foxes, raccoons, skunks, squirrels, rabbits, chipmunks, and deer fawns also may have parasites such as lice, fleas and ticks. Ticks can carry the dreaded Lyme disease.

"Removing a young animal or bird from its natural habitat is like issuing the creature a death warrant," one wildlife spokesman said.

"Untrained people don't know what to feed wildlife, and can cause them dietary problems, diarrhea, dehydration and in some cases, deformity."

The Department of Wildlife Conservation is urging parents to explain to their children that wildlife young should be left alone in the woods and fields, and that it is against the law to possess it.

Fishery councils propose quotas for next season

Recreational bag limits and seasonal commercial quotas for king and Spanish mackerel in federal waters to be effective July 1 were adopted by the Gulf and South Atlantic Fishery Management Councils at their April 26 meeting.

Seasonal total allowable catches have, in all cases, been increased over those of last year; however, because recreational catches exceeded or came close to reaching the recreational quotas this year, they will remain essentially the same.

The councils propose that by remaining low, the allowable bag limits may extend through next season without reverting to zero when a quota is filled.

Increases in recruitment (young fish entering the fishery) allowed a modest increase in catch, but all mackerel stocks remain overfished except the Atlantic king mackerel group.

Bag limits for Gulf king mackerel are to remain at two fish per person per trip except on charter boats where it is three fish per person per trip, excluding captain and crew, whichever is greater.

Spanish mackerel bag limits are to remain at ten fish per person per trip, except that off Florida they are to be compatible with the bag limit to be set for Florida waters so long as it does not exceed ten fish.

Vessels must abide by the bag limit unless they possess a commercial permit issued for that particular group of mackerel. Commercial permit applicants must be able to prove that ten percent of their earned income the previous year came from commercial fishing.

Charter and for-hire vessels are required to have a charter permit. Permits are available without cost from the National Marine Fisheries Service.

DieHard 500 produces new winner every year

Eighteen different winners in the first 20 runnings of the DieHard 500—an incredible streak. And only the skill and effort of a pair of three-time Winston Cup champions prevented it from being a perfect 20-for-20.

One of the drawing cards of the DieHard 500 has been its unpredictability, which includes a new face in victory lane almost every year. The odds are good that there will be still another one when the checkered flag falls on this year's DieHard 500 on Sunday, July 30.

Richard Brickhouse, who wasn't among the top names in stock car racing 20 years ago, nevertheless began the streak in 1969, edging Jim Vandiver, Ramo Stott and Bobby Isaac. All four were in winged Dodge Daytonas.

Pete Hamilton won in 1970, followed by Bobby Allison in 1971, James Hylton in '72, Dick Brooks in '73 and Richard Petty in '74. The streak of different winners was a modest half a dozen. In 1975, Buddy Baker prevented Petty from becoming the first repeat winner by edging "The King" on the final laps.

Dave Marcis won in 1976, becoming the first driver to win the DieHard 500 from the pole position. Baker, trying valiantly to duplicate his win the year before, fell short and finished second.

Donnie Allison got credit for winning in 1977, but it was Waltrip that actually took the checkered flag, having relieved an ill Allison midway in the race. Cale Yarborough was second.

Lennie Pond, who had finished fifth in the two previous DieHard 500's, finally got the first win of his career in 1978 by holding off veterans Donnie Allison, Benny Parsons, Yarborough and David Pearson. The streak was now at ten.

Waltrip took the victory in 1979, followed by Neil Bonnett in 1980 and rookie Ron Bouchard in 1981. Bouchard's win is still regarded as one of the all-time fanatistic finishes in NAS-

CAR history.

After 13 consecutive different faces in victory lane, Waltrip broke the string in 1982, beating Baker, Petty and Yarborough in a classic Talladega finish. Dale Earnhardt, in Bud Moore's Ford, began a new string in 1983.

It proved to be short-lived, however, as Earnhardt won for the second consecutive time in 1984, this one in Richard Childress' Chevrolet.

The streak was renewed in 1985 when Cale Yarborough won, and lengthened the following years as Bobby Hillin (1986), Bill Elliott (1987) and Kenny Schrader (1988) all won the DieHard 500 for the first time.

Can someone become the 19th different winner on July 30?

At least a dozen drivers who have never won the DieHard 500 are capable of pulling it off. They include the first four finishers in the Winston 500, Davey Allison, Terry Labonte, Mark Martin and Morgan Shepherd. They also include veterans Geoff Bodine, Rusty Wallace, Harry Gant, Phil Parsons, Lake Speed and Ricky Rudd. Add to the list several drivers who are still looking for their first Winston Cup victory, such as Sterling Marlin, Rick Wilson, Michael Waltrip, Brett Bodine and Dick Trickle, and the possibility of a 19th different winner in the DieHard 500 is very, very real.

Reserved seat tickets for the July 30 Die Hard 500, as well as the ARCA 500K on Saturday, July 29, are on sale now at the speedway ticket office. For seat selection and other ticket information, call 205/362-9064.

USM student invents swimming pace monitor

An engineering technology student at the University of Southern Mississippi has built a prototype of an electronic device that helps swimmers build conditioning while training for athletic competition.

Keenan Carver, 23, a senior electronics engineering technology major at USM, built the machine as a partial requirement for a degree, but it also evolved from his longtime interest and involvement in athletics.

"What I have here is a 'pace light system,'" Carver said during a demonstration of his apparatus in USM's Johnson Natatorium. "It is used to pace swimmers...I have been in swimming and coaching for several years, and I saw a need for something like this."

"This (device) allows a swimmer to see, at all times, exactly how fast he is going," the former USM swim team member added.

Carver's machine—dubbed "the Carver Advanced Pacing System, or CAPS by its inventor—has a central computerized control box and 24 amber lights placed along and attached to 25 yards of ordinary garden hose, to protect the wiring from moisture.

When the computer is programmed and the system is turned on, a swimmer keeps pace with the lights as they track up and down the pool's edge. At the end of a completed lap, the computer memory automatically times a rest period. At the end of the rest period, a tone sounds and the swimmer is off again.

"The best thing about the device is it helps the young swimmer learn pacing," said Mike Giles, director of aquatics at USM. "You're always taking (about) pace to swimmers—learn to swim fast 50s or 100s—and this machine helps the coach keep up with where the swimmer is, in his conditioning."

Carver estimates he has invested around $275 and some six months of planning and construction in CAPS, and he has struck a deal with the local Hub Fins swim team to leave the pace/conditioning machine behind when he graduates.

For the graduates...

Preparing for life after high school

By Linda S. Moore
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

A year high school seniors have completed "last time" activities with mixed results—the last time to play high school ball, the last band concert, the last science fair project. While graduation marks the end of one chapter in life, it marks the beginning for a wide range of new opportunities.

Graduation is a good chance for seniors to put the past into perspective by appreciating the hard work and learning experiences, said Dr. Ann Jarratt, a development specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

"This is a good time to look at the things that didn't go as well as those that did," Jarratt said. "We all should learn from personal experiences. The past is a good teacher."

Jarratt said that in any situation there is a risk of failure. The goal is in determining what the outcome is and how to avoid it.

By evaluating strengths and weaknesses, graduates can set realistic goals for the future.

Setting realistic goals can help a student's self-esteem, which has been lowered by the "last time" activities, Jarratt said.

Goals should be achievable long-term goals, such as a college degree, and short-term goals, such as a job. Jarratt said that a student should set goals that are realistic and achievable at four years.

Setting goals through a career plan is an important step in the goal-setting process.

When deciding college or an alternative career after graduation, Jarratt recommends that students determine if the short-term benefits or if the long-term goals are more important. She said one factor graduates may want to consider is that a person with a four-year degree can expect to make $672 more a month than a person with only a high school diploma.

Leaving high school behind often means a drastic change in friends and environment, which provides the chance to personally improve in some areas without being locked into one expected behavior.

"A new setting is always an opportunity to try new behaviors," Jarratt said. "The danger is if a person tries to be totally different from who they really are; it may not come off very well."

Jarratt cautions seniors to realize that graduation is not only a big event for them. Psychologically, graduation is tough on the parents of seniors too. She said young people often don't understand the separation anxiety parents are feeling.

She said the experiences that graduation brings—memories of past failures, leaving friends behind, leaving parents for college—should not cause guilt feelings.

Pass school employees, retirees honored

RETIREES HONORED—Four retirees recently honored for their years of service to the Pass Christian Public Schools are, from left, Mrs. Zadell Labat, Mrs. Laurice Niolet, Mrs. Ann Buchanan and Mrs. Sadie Lassabe.

Pass Christian Public Schools recently held the annual awards and recognition program at Pass Christian High School. This year's program was a combination awards and recognition for employees of the year and four individuals retiring from the school district.

Certificates of Appreciation were presented to employees with 10 or 15 years of service to the school district. Bus driver safety awards were presented to those bus drivers who did not have a reportable accident this year.

Each year fellow employees vote and select an employee of the year. Recipients are Cheryl Lowell, bookkeeper/secretary; Gloria Harshbarger, bus driver; Zadell Labat, cafeteria manager; Rebecca Baptiste, cafeteria worker; Edward McArthur, custodian/maintenance; and Barbara Hayden, teacher assistant.

The four retirees have accumulated 54 years of service to the Pass Christian Public School District. These individuals were presented with resolutions and plaques from Superintendent LeRoy Lizana and School Board President Ronnie Massey.

They are custodian Ann Buchanan, five years; custodian Sadie Lassabe, 11 years; custodian Laurice Niolet, 12 years; and cafeteria manager Zadell Labat, 26 years.

Past school board president, Colonel Lawrence Roberts, was presented with a plaque for his years of service as president of the local school board and as an officer with the state and national school board associations.

Pass bus drivers to compete in state safe driving contest

The transportation department of the Pass Christian Public Schools recently held the local School Bus Drivers Road-E-O competition. The Bus Drivers Road-E-O is a nationally affiliated competition of bus driving skills.

According to Robert White, transportation supervisor for Pass Christian Schools, this is their first time to compete statewide and the third time for a state contest to be held.

The two winners from Pass Christian, Ausker Dedeaux and Patricia Stevenson, will compete in Jackson on June 8 with other local winners for the state title.

Each school district is allowed to send two bus drivers to the state contest. The top 10 drivers at the state contest will compete on June 27 and 28 at the regional competition at the Gulf Coast Coliseum. The first and second place winners will compete for the national championship July 11 and 12 in Traverse City, Mich.
